Tiffany D. McCormack, M.D., F.A.C.S.

Dr. Tiffany McCormack attributes her success as a plastic surgeon to her philosophy that every surgery is as unique as the patient who chooses it. By individualizing each treatment plan according to the needs and expectations of her patients, she is able to refine and rejuvenate their natural beauty.

Dr. McCormack is certified by the American Board of Plastic Surgery. She received her post-graduate training in General Surgery and Plastic Surgery at the prestigious Stanford University. She was selected for this highly competitive “combined” training program upon concluding medical school. Dr. McCormack relies on her surgical expertise and artistry to provide her patients with down-to-earth, all-encompassing support. She understands the essential role plastic and reconstructive surgeons can play on a global scale, which is why she remains committed to helping underprivileged patients and advancing her field through scientific research.

Dr. McCormack understands that the selection of a plastic surgeon is an extremely important decision for any prospective patient. By stressing patient education and doctor availability Dr. McCormack is able to treat the whole patient throughout the surgical process. She is well-versed in the latest plastic surgery and laser techniques. Further supported by her numerous affiliations with prestigious plastic surgery organizations, coupled with her aesthetic medical talent and ultimate understanding of the body, Dr. McCormack is poised to continue providing quality patient care and natural results. Dr. McCormack specializes in surgery of the breast, face and body including mommy makeovers and plastic surgery after extensive weight loss.
